SERVICE TO THE COLLEGE

Emerson College

Chair, Performing Arts Department (2007-present)

Administrate and oversee a department consisting of approximately 500 students, 28 full time faculty, 12 staff and 20-30 adjunct faculty, with a $450,000 annual budget. Performing Arts at Emerson consists of seven different degree tracks, including BFA's in Design/Tech, Production/Stage Management, Acting, Musical Theatre, and a strong BA in Theatre Studies and BA in Theatre Education.

All initiatives, reorganizations and other changes were possible thanks to the collaboration and support of the PA faculty and staff. My accomplishments over the last four years include:

Oversaw the move into the Paramount, and orchestrated an opening weekend of events highlighting the PA faculty, staff and students, including the commissioning of original work from Boston-based playwrights (the Pop Up Plays).

Working alongside ArtsEmerson to create positive collaboration experiences for the department: Three co-productions (Color of Rose, Sugar, and Café Variations) have led to more opportunities for faculty, staff and students to work alongside professionals.

Built stronger relationships with alums from the PA program and helped gain over $175,000 in additional scholarship funds for the department.

Created new positions including a Term Faculty line for Head of BFA Stage/Production Management; an Assistant Production Manager, and Assistant General Manager. Restructured the staffing of the Costume Shop to more successfully meet the needs of the department.

Initiated a NY connection trip for BFA Acting and Musical Theatre Seniors to meet Emerson alumnae working in the theatre industry, creating more informational and work opportunities for our students, while creating a stronger bond with our alums in the profession.

Began producing the BFA Acting and Musical Theatre Showcase as an Alums Presentation in New York City for industry professionals in the fall of 2011.

Creating the Orientation Soiree where first year students were matched with upperclassmen over the summer and were introduced face to face during orientation week.

Oversaw the restructuring of the Acting program and its shift in leadership to emphasize the differences between the curriculum of the BFA in Acting and the BA program.

Producing Director, Emerson Stage (2000-2007)

Work during the academic year and during the summer creating and overseeing the Emerson Stage season. New initiatives have included:

- Roxbury Community College co-productions, beginning with ALICE by Elizabeth Swados (see award nominations above), Robbie McCauley's production of THE ME NOBODY KNOWS, and TWELVE ANGRY JURORS, and an in-the-planning-stages 05-06 production of THE EXONERATED directed by Emerson alum and well-known film and stage actor Brent Jennings.
- Creating a new adaptation of the children's classic, All of a Kind Family, performed at the Cutler Majestic in November of 2004. Organized efforts to bring in school groups from the Boston area, including inner city and Chinatown vicinity students, providing them with free theatre. Organized inter-denominational conversations around the production for elementary school kids throughout the Boston area, as well as bringing in Temple and Church groups.
- Commissioning playwright Jeffrey Hatcher to write a new adaptation of Kaufman and Hart's The Fabulous Invalid to celebrate the centennial of the Majestic. Producing the play starring two professional actors, including Tony-nominee Alice Ripley. Emerson Stage received positive reviews from throughout the region in most major newspapers.
- Trinity Repertory Theatre in Providence, RI: conversations led to the presenting of Trinity's Christmas Carol at the Majestic, and Artistic Director Oskar Eustis speaking to our students.
- Selected productions in consultation with Performing Arts Faculty; oversaw the casting process; participated in all design hires, decisions and production meetings; selected student directing projects; oversaw the selection of the New Works scripts, including the Rod Parker Award winner; aided in the pursuing and writing of all grants and development efforts for Emerson Stage; wrote program copy and oversaw the brochure and marketing information for Emerson Stage; attended all Emerson Stage productions.
